Art Unit: 1615

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 1 recites the broad recitation "a magnesium oxychloride cement", and the claim also recites, "also known as a Sorel cement", which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim 5 fails to further define the subject matter in a clear concise manner that sets forth the metes and bounds of patent protection desired. While the active substance may be nitrous oxide, it is unclear what else is present when the active substance includes nitrous oxide.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Allen et al US 4,661,339 in view of Blum et al US 5,192,804 and EP 0 357 327 A2. Allen et al shows a sustained release composition comprised of pharmaceutically active agents wherein magnesium oxychloride cement enables release of the active agent. See example 2. The reference further shows a particulate form wherein the composition provides the active agent to pigs or ruminants. Column 6, line 39 through column 7, line 17. The reference does not show applicant's active substance and tablet or capsule dosage form. Blum et al is relied on for teaching it is known to give pigs L-carnitine in a particulate form. See Abstract, column 4, lines 34-41, and claim 1. The EP 0 357 327 A2 reference is relied on for teaching various dosage forms comprised of magnesium oxychloride type cements. See page 3, line 64 through page 4, line 2, claim 1. A sphere can be a hollow capsule. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the Blum et al L-carnitine and tablets and capsules of the EP reference to incorporate the magnesium oxychloride cement of Allen et al as sustained release dosage forms. The motivation being the inventors' desire to provide optimum nutrition to growing animals in an easily administered form for consistent growth patterns.

6. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 6 and 7 are allowed.
